

TANFORAN PARK WILL BE CONVERTED INTO TRAINING CAMP

NEARBY RACETRACK SECURED BY FEDERAL AUTHORITIES FOR ARMY USE.

Tanforan Park has been secured as an armory, barracks, headquarters and training camp for the California Field Artillery, and just as soon as some necessary preliminaries are perfected the men enrolled to carry the Golden State's fame and fight for humanity on Europe's battlefields will be hard at work getting themselves fit to participate in the great melee.

The place is considered ideal for that purpose. With stabling accommodation for almost two thousand horses, abundant water and electric lighting, a vast center field for a drill ground, the place is declared adequate by the officers. It is within easy distance of San Francisco, with which it is connected by steam and electric railways, the trip taking about thirty minutes.

Intensive drilling and training will be conducted under expert instructors until the men are thoroughly qualified to withstand the rigors of campaigning. Of course, some of them are expected to be in better form to begin the strenuous work than others, but the quality of the men already enrolled indicates that as a whole they will have an easier task than the average body of recruits. The batteries will be largely composed of athletes, cowboys and men engaged in other occupations that bring physical hardness and quickness of action, thought and eye. The Olympic Club battery will not require much physical preparation, nor will the League of the Cross Cadets nor the members of the San Francisco cavalry troop be amateurish in military matters.

CITIZENS RENT TRACK.

It is understood that the former racing park has been rented from the California Jockey Association for $500 a month, exclusive of water rate and caretaker's salary. Payment of this money has been guaranteed by the same public-spirited citizens who are footing the entire expense of enrolling the regiment, which will not cost either the State of California or Uncle Sam a single cent. This arrangement will continue until the regiment is ordered into active service abroad.

All the men identified with the enlistment are pleased with the facilities afforded by Tanforan as a training camp. It is expected to stimulate enrollment, because it will give the man who decides to serve his country as a soldier home comforts in place of the hardships of the average camp.

As a result of the stirring patriotic addresses delivered at the Olympic Club's "Old Glory" dinner Thursday evening there was an augmented rush of information-seekers throughout yesterday at the California Field Artillery's recruiting headquarters in the Mills building, and half a dozen uniformed members of the San Francisco Cavalry troop were kept busy answering queries and registering applicants for enrollment. An unprecedentedly large number of applications were received from points outside of San Francisco, where the fame of the proposed new regiment is no less than at the place of its inception.

Mrs. E. Coffinberry returned from the Yosemite this week and left Thursday for Lake Tahoe.

Mr. Harlow Dotson has been unable to work this week as he has been sick.

The Ladies' Aid social will be held at the church next Wednesday evening.

$1,000,000 TO BE EXPENDED FOR HARBOR

LOUIS F. SWIFT TO CREATE GREAT PORT

Louis F. Swift, head of the international packing interest, will spend a million dollars to make South San Francisco the best port on the bay. This decision has been reached by the Chicago packer in his recent visit to San Francisco.

Swift has heretofore spent $100,000 on a canal to connect his Western Meat Company property with the bay, but plans now to deepen and widen the present channel and extend it half a mile further inland, where a great turning basin, 1000 by 600 feet and 30 feet deep, and with ample dockage, will be constructed. The channel itself, according to figures given by Lillenthal, is to be 300 feet wide, with a bulkhead protecting it on the north, and will have a depth of 22 feet at low tide.

PROJECT A CERTAINTY.

"Mr. Swift has made up his mind," said Jesse W. Lillenthal, the Swift interest attorney in San Francisco, "and that makes certain that the project will be built. We conferred over it particularly during his visit here, and we went over the ground very carefully. In fact, Mr. Swift came out for the principal purpose of determining whether he would undertake the development."

"I can't say when it will be done. This is a time of stress and disaster, and is not the best time for those things. But if it were not for the war, the work would be undertaken immediately. I believe certainly it will be started before the year is out."

TO RECLAIM 4000 ACRES.

The project will reclaim about 4000 acres, largely owned by the Swift interest, and will afford factory sites for several big Eastern industrial concerns which seek to establish branches in South San Francisco. It will also provide a location for a shipbuilding plant on the slough, in which it is thought likely Swift capital will be interested. Further, it affords an opportunity to extend the rapidly growing plant of the Western Meat Company.

A similar reclamation project was undertaken by the Swifts at Buenos Aires a few years ago, and has resulted in the development of a meat plant second only to the Chicago abattoirs of the Swifts.

THE FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD.

Hayward, district manager of this district, were with us on last Monday evening and gave a very interesting report of the business transacted at the last meeting of the supreme lodge, which was held in Los Angeles the last of June.

Arrangements were made to hold a patriotic meeting on August 13th, when a reception will be tendered to our members who have been or may be called to the war.

The Ladies' Aid sale will be held Saturday, August 4th. The committee in charge are Mrs. J. Coffinberry, Mrs. J. O. Snyder and Mrs. I. S. Boyer.

Master Phillip Sullivan will begin his high school course at the Cogswell Polytechnic School in San Francisco on Monday.

JUDGE S. C. DENSON,
WHO DIED IN EASTON

ABLE LAWYER PASSES AWAY AT RIPE AGE OF 77 AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Judge Samuel C. Denson, who at various times during the last decade acted as counsel for a number of South City interests, died Thursday night at his Easton residence after a prolonged illness. The deceased was 77 years of age, and is survived by a widow and three grown children.

For eight years Judge Denson presided over the superior court at Sacramento. Later he moved to San Francisco, where he established law offices. Here he acquired a reputation as an able corporation lawyer.

For years until the time of his death, Judge Denson maintained a country home at Easton. Admirers induced him to become a candidate for superior judge against Judge George Buck. He made a strenuous campaign.

WOMEN FISH UP BODY; OFFICIAL PROBE THEN FOLLOWS

Sheriff Michael Sheehan received word from Coroner W. A. Brooke Thursday morning that the body of a man, bound hand and foot and with a wound in the head, had been discovered in the waters of the bay near South San Francisco Wednesday night by some women who were fishing off Sierra Point. According to the meager information secured by the sheriff, one of the women hooked the body and hauled it to the surface at the end of her line, but before she could pull the body to shore the hook became detached from the clothing and the corpse again sank beneath the waves.

Sheehan immediately went to South San Francisco, where he was joined by City Marshal Clyde Conrad, and the two set out for Sierra Point to recover the corpse.

They dragged the bay off Sierra Point, but could not find it.

Reported in San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 26.—Fishing off the bay shore pier, near the Six-Mile House, yesterday afternoon, three girl friends and Miss Hattie Salter of 800 Bush street, brought to the surface the body of a well dressed man. Miss Salter reported to the police last night. She said the body sank at once, as though weighted.

"The girls thought their lines had been pulled or snagged," she said. "They crossed very hard and the body appeared. It sank right away."

Miss Salter said a number of other persons were fishing off the pier, and

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN BRINGS RESULTS

(By D. E. Curley)

Natural resources multiplied by industry equals wealth—and South San Francisco having the three greatest reasons for becoming a wealthy community—geographical position, climate and natural resources—the answer is easy. South City is rapidly gaining recognition as the logical location for industrial sites in the Bay section. The industries now located here are prospering, several are planning extensive enlargements and improvements; more are coming, and with their coming will come a doubled, possibly a trebled, population for South City. This is not only a possibility—it is a probability, if we work together to bring it about.

Fully awake to these advantages and alert to make South City one of California's most thriving and prosperous communities, the Chamber of Commerce has commenced a real campaign for new members. It wants members who are in earnest; members who will give their efforts to the furthering of the civic, industrial and financial betterment of South City; members who will take active and hearty interest in the plans already launched and the many more now under consideration to advance, advertise and exploit South City until it stands a "Bigger, Better, Busier South San Francisco"—the best small town in California.

The lid is off! You need not own a steel mill, a bank, a factory, or be a butcher or baker or bathing-suit maker to be eligible for membership. All that is required is a belief in your community, a realization of your duty to that community—and fifty cents a month.

The drive for members started successfully at last Tuesday night's meeting. The irrepressible and exuberant N. A. Becker stated there were plenty of members to be gotten if they were gone after, and further declared he "Could get three in five minutes." In exactly two minutes and fifty-nine seconds he came back and had in tow C. C. Carlson, Peter J. McCormick and Louis Ringue. Each smilingly slapped down their fifty cents to Secretary Walker, who promptly enrolled them in the lists of the South City Community Boosters, amid the applause of those present. P. R. Thompson, Director of Transportation of the Steel Company, believing it worth a dollar a month to be a member, took two memberships in his own name—and was promptly followed by two additional enrollments. This was encouraging and so apparently easy, that each member pledged himself to bring a new member within a month, and to further urge every absent member to do the same. So when you are asked to join, don't scowl. Smile, and attend the next meeting, which will be held one week from Tuesday.

Don't be a business slacker. Be of the community as well as in it. Take your place among the men who are doing things for South City. Join the Chamber of Commerce!

Picture Hats Are a Joy Forever

THE popular movie star Virginia Pearson wears with her summer furs a luxurious stole of white ermine and a dashing hat of silvery ermine, brim banded with a beautiful wreath of velvet flowers in various shades of cornflower blue. Line and richness of fabric give the result.

Sport stocks of striped madras give an indescribably swagger, knowing look to the tailored sport shirt of white or colored linen or of silk cashmere, which is just now the exclusive fabric for sport shirts. The stock comes high and close around the throat and has ends that reach almost to the waist line. Its bright stripes repeat the prevailing color of the sport hat or skirt.

Skirts are all narrower at the ankles, and the flare has departed. There are no strictly barrel skirts to be seen and few peg tops or exaggerations of any sort. There are overhanging tunics and irregular drapery in slightly "tonneau" effects and plain tailored skirts in which the lines narrow toward the bottom, some by the use of gores, slightly in "tonneau" effect. Many of the skirts, however, are straight and simply cut, some of them with plaits and some without and some with panels. In dresses the skirts often suggested one drapery over the other.

Black and bright colored velvet ribbon in various widths is used on silk jersey coats.

The tailored hat answers for so many occasions that it is indispensable.

Colored beads of all sorts—wooden, porcelain and composition—are revived for the rosary fashioned chains now worn with one piece frocks.

PRIZE RECIPES.

COCOANUT TARTLETS.—After rolling out rough puff paste very thinly line a dozen pans with it. Beat to a cream a tablespoonful and a half of butter, with a heaping tablespoonful and a half of sugar, then add a well beaten egg, mix it well into the butter and sugar, then add a tablespoonful of rice flour, three tablespoonfuls of finely chopped cocoanut and half a teaspoonful of almond extract. Mix well together. Put a good spoonful of this mixture into each pan and bake from ten to fifteen minutes in a moderate oven. Either hot or cold, the tartlets will be found very tasty.

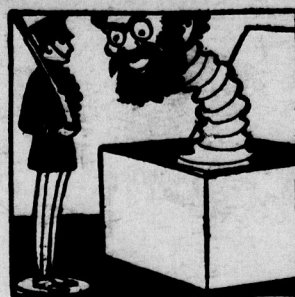

Hotchpot.—To make a dish of the old fashioned hotchpot take dried haricot beans, three-quarters of a pound, onions, carrots, turnips and potatoes. Soak the beans overnight. Slice the carrots and onions and fry in fat in a stewpan. Add some water and put in the beans. Simmer for about an hour and a half, add the turnips and potatoes, boil for half an hour. If thought desirable add a little dried mint and a teaspoonful of sugar.

Baked Haddock.—Having filleted two medium sized fish, lay two fillets on a well greased baking tin, sprinkle thickly with breadcrumbs, chopped parsley, pepper and salt; then two more fillets and some more breadcrumbs, parsley, pepper and salt and fill up the dish in this way until all the fillets are used up, having breadcrumbs on top. Place on top a few small pieces of butter. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour or until nicely browned. Melted butter should be served with the dish.

Curry.—An excellent curry can be made with a quarter of a pound of rice, three-quarters of a pound of green lentils, onions, apples, a teaspoonful of curry powder. Wash the lentils, boil them for two hours, then add the onions, rice, curry powder, slices of apples or bananas—lemon juice if desired—and simmer for fifteen minutes. If thought desirable a little sugar may be added.

"Just wait until morning!" hissed the Goblin.

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—

A TIN SOLDIER
HAD A FALL

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

WHEN two children clapped and clapped daddy began the bedtime story with: "Just as a little tin soldier fell in love with a little paper dancer the clock struck 2. This is the hour when toys come to life and play just like children, you know."

"As the clock struck, pop! went something, and up flew the lid of a snuff-box that the little tin soldier was lying behind. But it wasn't really a snuff-box, as he had thought. It was the home of a little black goblin, sort of a jack-in-the-box, you know."

"The tin soldier," said the black goblin, "have the goodness to keep your eyes to yourself!"

"The tin soldier, you remember, had been staring at the little dancer in a paper castle near by."

"He pretended not to hear the goblin. 'Ah, just wait till morning!' hissed the goblin between his black teeth."

"In the morning when the little boy who had received the box of tin soldiers for a birthday present got up he stood the little tin soldier on the window sill so he could see him better. And whether it was the black goblin or a puff of wind I do not know. But all at once the window burst open, and the little tin soldier fell, head first, right out of a third story window."

"It was a terrific crash, and he landed at last with his one leg in the air and rested on his tin cap, with his bayonet fixed between two paving stones in the sidewalk."

"The maidservant and the little boy ran downstairs at once to look for him. But, although they almost trod on him, they could not see him, so tiny was he, wedged in between the stones."

"If the tin soldier had only called out, 'Here I am!' they could have easily found him. But he was a well drilled little soldier, and he did not think it proper to shout out when he was in uniform."

"Presently it began to rain. The drops fell faster and faster till it poured in torrents. When it was clear again two street boys came along."

"Look!" they cried. "There is a tin soldier sticking up between the stones. He shall go for a sail!"

"So they made a boat out of a scrap of newspaper that happened to be blowing past. They put the tin soldier in the little boat, and away he sailed down the gutter," daddy ended.

So the children hugged him and ran off to bed.

"THE END OF THE TOUR" TO BE SUNDAY'S BILL AT ROYAL THEATRE

SCENE FROM "THE END OF THE TOUR"

Lionel Barrymore in the five-part Metro-Columbia comedy drama, "The End of the Tour," directed by George D. Baker, which will be seen at the Royal Theatre Sunday evening, July 29th, has the support of one of the finest companies ever brought together in a motion picture.

Ethel Dayton, who has the leading feminine role, has been seen with Ethel Barrymore in "The White Raven" as Sylvia Blaisdell, and her youthful charm is especially suited to the part of Grace Jessup in "The End of the Tour." Miss Dayton won her first laurels at the Vitagraph in ingenue and leading parts under the instruction of her present director, Mr. Baker. Formerly known as Ethel Corcoran, she chose the simpler name of Dayton for purposes of the screen.

Frank Currier, seen as Thorpe, the jeweler, in "The Wager," with Emily Stevens, has the part of Colonel Jessup. A long and successful career on the speaking stage preceded Mr. Currier's entrance into motion pictures. He has been identified as manager and actor with practically all the great stars of the past thirty years. Another sterling actor well known to theatregoers is Charles Eldridge, who has appeared in many Metro wonder-plays, including "The Wheel of the Law" and "The Pretenders."

In "The End of the Tour" the charming little dramatic actress, Mary Taylor, makes her bow in motion pictures in the role of Lottie Lee, sourette of a "one-night-stand" theatrical company. She has played all the parts in which Laurette Taylor formerly starred. Mary Taylor is the wife of the celebrated playwright and author, Charles A. Taylor. She brings undoubted ability to her new work.

Kate Blanche is one of Metro's best-known character women, excelling in grande dame parts. In "The End of the Tour" she has the part of the "character woman" of the "troupe." Maud Hill, a statuesque beauty, seen in many Metro productions, is the troupe's leading lady, and Richard Thornton the manager.

Walter Hiers, one of the cleverest character comedians of the screen world, plays "Skinny," the fat property man. Mr. Hiers has appeared in screen versions of Booth Tarkington's books, "Seventeen" and "The Conquest of Canaan." J. Herbert Frank, Hugh Jeffrey and William Harvey, all excellent actors, have good parts in "The End of the Tour."

Hysteria Not Patriotism

There are those who would have us believe that because the people of this country are not ablaze with enthusiasm and shouting their patriotism from the housetops they are necessarily not in sympathy with the war program. But no greater mistake in judgment was ever made.

The American people as a mass have regretted the necessity for going to war. We had hoped against hope that it could be avoided. Even at this day there is an undercurrent of hope that in some way, consistent with honor, the dire consequences of war as felt by the European nations may be avoided.

But while this hope is in the national heart, there is also in that heart a grim, deadly determination that certain objects MUST be attained, even though our sacrifice equal or exceed that of the others.

Our people were slow to arouse, even yet are only partially awake, but in the great heart of the nation there is steadily awakening that inherent loyalty to our great ideals that has carried us triumphantly through every crisis that has ever confronted us. This feeling is not built upon froth. It is not the result of hysteria. It is born and bred in us, and is as much a part of us as our very life blood.

The attitude of the American people to-day is that of facing a duty—a very disagreeable duty—but one of which there can be no faintest thought of our shirking or evading. We are coming to see before us a gigantic task, but a task upon the accomplishment of which depends all we have hoped for and longed for and striven for during the century and a half of our existence.

It is with the solemn realization of this task, and the grim, deadly earnestness with which our people are setting about its accomplishment, that has produced over the land a quiet determination that, to the superficial observer might be mistaken for indifference. But the man or nation that thus judges is due for an astonishing awakening in the months to come.

Americans, aroused, are invincible, and they know it. Hence we have no need for hysteria.

Distribution of Man Power

Viewing the matter in the light of sober reason, which is most necessary at this time—we must all see wherein congress had weighty reasons for its action in voting to raise an army by selective draft.

We can not think that our law-makers were inspired by any prejudice against the volunteer system, nor that they intended any discredit to the volunteer spirit of our people. The impelling reason seems to have been that the recruiting of an army is only one of the huge tasks before this country. There is also the huge task of practically feeding the world, or at least our allies, which calls for much thought and discrimination in the mustering of our forces.

It is the intention of the government in recruiting the regiments needed to interfere as little as possible with the various branches of industry, particularly that of farming. To this end the authorities were convinced that the selection of recruits should not be left to voluntary action, but placed in competent hands that should decide who should FIGHT and who should WORK.

With the calling of men to the colors, the people should take this sensible view of the situation, and realize that if one young man is exempted and another is not, there is some all-powerful reason for the apparent discrimination. Those most urgently needed in industrial life should be the last to be summoned, for when industry stops the army is soon at a standstill.

The time has come when every man is expected to do his full duty in whatever station he may be called. There is no room for slackers and sore-heads and grumblers.

The Farmers and Food Control

An illuminating side light on the food situation is contained in some expressions inserted in the Congressional Record recently by Senator Smith of Michigan. These were from farmers' organizations and individual farmers, and they without exception indorsed the food control measures before congress.

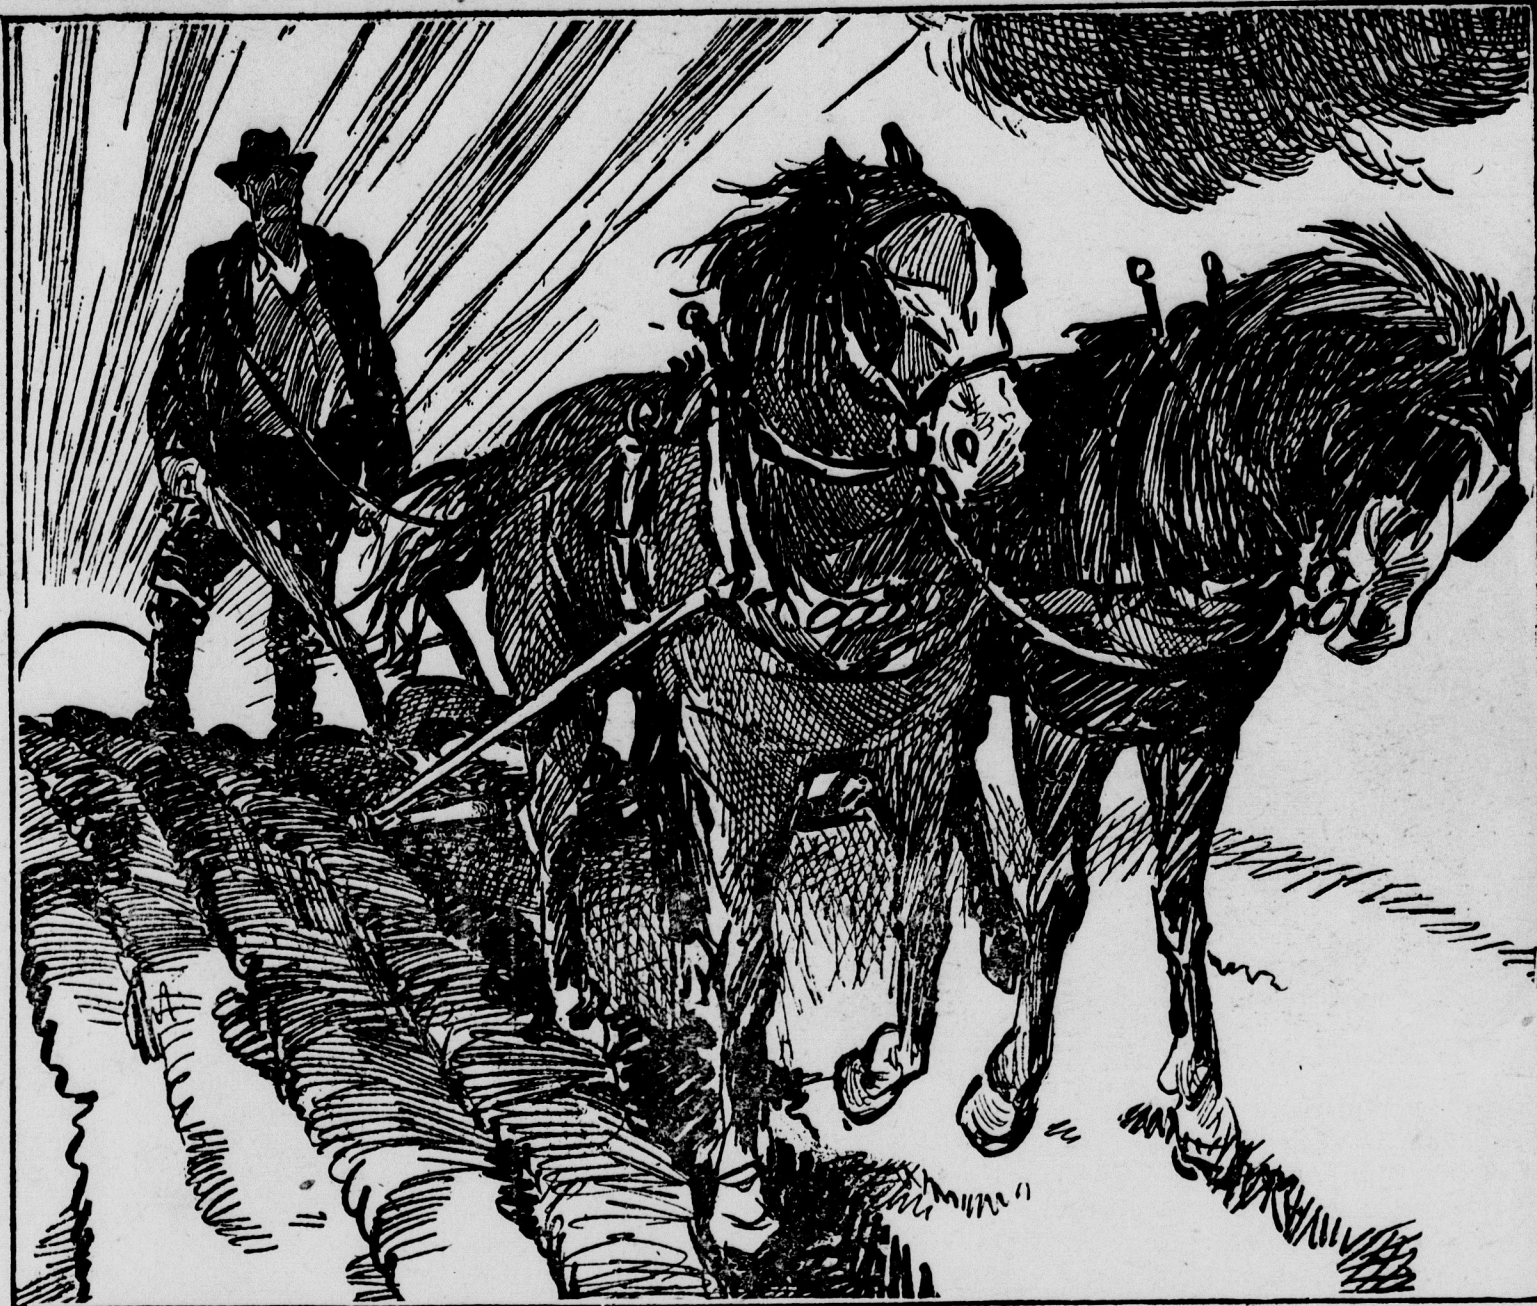

These expressions give us a pretty clear idea as to whence come the present panic prices. We are told with great unction that this is the first time in our history that the farmer has received for his products what they were really worth.

But let us see. What is the object of food control? Whence comes the insistent demand? Plainly, the demand is the direct result of food prices that are out of all proportion to wages and to prices in every other line. Is it reasonable to believe that if the farmers were receiving anything like the present retail prices—minus, of course, a reasonable per cent of middlemen's profit—that they would be not only willing but anxious to kill the goose that lays the golden egg?

The plain truth is, the farmer is not benefited by the present high prices of food in any degree to recompense him for what he is injured by extravagant prices in other lines. He is paying vastly more for every purchase he makes, from a plow point to a tractor engine. What he gains from his small profits on his sales of foodstuffs is more than offset by the enormous increase in the cost of everything that he must buy to operate his farm. This the farmers know, and this is why they are, almost without exception, heartily in favor of government food control—a control which will establish a minimum as well as a maximum price.

The speculating food pirates will have to hunt some other scapegoat for their sins instead of the farmer and his "interests."

NEW HEADLIGHT LAW BEING ENFORCED BY TRAFFIC SQUAD

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SEEKS CO-OPERATION OF PRESS TO EXPLAIN MEASURE.

District Attorney Franklin Swart, who is in actual charge of the San Mateo county traffic squad, has written a personal letter to The Enterprise, requesting that it publish the new headlight law which went into effect yesterday in this state. The law follows:

"At the time and under the conditions in this section hereinbefore specified the headlights of all motor vehicles upon the highway shall give sufficient light to reveal any persons, vehicle or substantial object on the road ahead of such motor vehicle for a distance of at least one hundred and fifty feet, and shall also give sufficient side illumination to reveal any person, vehicle or substantial object ten feet to the side of said motor vehicle at a point ten feet ahead of the lamps; provided, however, that such headlights shall be so constructed or arranged that no portion of the beam of reflected light when measured seventy-five feet or more ahead of said lamps shall rise or shall be capable of being raised from the driver's seat to more than forty-two inches above the level surface on which the vehicle stands ahead of such vehicle; provided, further, that the term 'headlight,' as used herein, shall denote any light, irrespective of its location upon the motor vehicle, the rays of which are projected forward, except sidelights of not to exceed four candlepower, and that the term 'beam of reflected light,' as used herein, shall denote the approximately parallel focalized rays gathered and projected by a reflector, lens or other device; and provided, further, anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding, that where there is sufficient light within the lateral boundaries of the public highway within any incorporated city, town or city and county, to reveal all persons, vehicles or substantial objects within said boundaries for a distance of one hundred and fifty feet, no lights shall be required to be displayed on any vehicle while the same is not in operation, providing that the wheels of such standing vehicle nearest the sidewalk are located within six inches of such sidewalk."

In the compliance with and enforcement of these provisions of the law the following suggestions issued by the legislative board of the American Automobile Association, after exhaustive experiments by their own engineers and the experts of the Society of Automobile Engineers and the Safety First Federation of America, are recommended, both to owners of motor vehicles and local police authorities:

"To ascertain when a light is forty-two inches from the ground at a distance of seventy-five feet in front of the car, the following instructions are given:

"(a) Have the light focused so that the reflected rays will be condensed in solid volume as much as possible, and so as to eliminate stray rays as far as possible. To focus a light, place the car in front of a building or any perpendicular flat surface of sufficient size at a distance of ten or fifteen feet and by adjusting the bulb backward or forward reduce the area of light as much as possible, and make the light from both lamps as nearly uniform as possible. This is the most difficult of the three things necessary to overcome objectionable glare.

"(b) Place the machine on the level and measure a distance of seventy-five feet to the front.

"(c) Make a mark on a board, broomhandle or on the coat of an individual forty-two inches from the ground and see that the upper circumference of the solid volume of reflected light does not strike above that mark at seventy-five feet in front of the light. Police officers and others may easily determine the distance from the ground by noting a certain button, pocket, lapel or any other distance-mark on their wearing apparel. By stepping in front of the machine on the level at a distance approximately seventy-five feet, they may easily determine whether or not the lights are properly reflected.

"There are some reflectors that because of their improper construction (being either too flat or too deep) would make it impossible to secure a condensation of the main rays. In such cases different reflectors will have to be secured."

HOW SHALL WE PAY FOR THE WAR?

A Constructive Criticism on the House Revenue Bill.

LOANS BETTER THAN TAXES

Five Reasons Why Excessive Taxes at the Outset of War Are Disadvantageous—Great Britain Example Worthy of Emulation—How the Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

By EDWIN R. A. SELIGMAN,
McVickar Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

On May 23, 1917, the House of Representatives passed an act "to provide revenue to defray war expenses and for other purposes." In the original bill as presented by the Committee of Ways and Means, the additional revenue to be derived was estimated at $1,810,420,000. The amendment to the income tax, which was tacked on to the bill during the discussion in the House, was expected to yield another $40,000,000 or $50,000,000.

In discussing the House bill, two problems arise:

I. How much should be raised by taxation?

II. In what manner should this sum be raised?

I. How Much Should Be Raised by Taxation?

How was the figure of $1,800,000,000 arrived at? The answer is simple. When the Secretary of the Treasury came to estimate the additional war expenses for the year 1917-18, he calculated that they would amount to some $6,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 was to be allotted to the allies, and $3,000,000,000 was to be utilized for the domestic purposes. Thinking that it would be a fair proposition to divide this latter sum between loans and taxes, he concluded that the amount to be raised by taxes was $1,800,000,000.

There are two extreme theories, each of which may be dismissed with scant courtesy. The one is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by loans, and the other is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by taxes. Each theory is untenable.

It is indeed true that the burdens of the war should be borne by the present rather than the future generation; but this does not mean that they should be borne by this year's taxation.

Meeting all war expenses by taxation makes the taxpayers in one or two years bear the burden of benefits that ought to be distributed at least over a decade within the same generation.

In the second place, when expenditures approach the gigantic sums of present-day warfare, the tax-only policy would require more than the total surplus of social income. Were this absolutely necessary, the ensuing havoc in the economic life of the community would have to be endured. But where the disasters are so great and at the same time so unnecessary, the tax-only policy may be declared impracticable.

Secretary McAdoo had the right instinct and highly commendable courage in deciding that a substantial portion, at least, of the revenues should be derived from taxation. But when he hit upon the plan of 50-50 per cent., that is, of raising one-half of all domestic war expenditures by taxes, the question arises whether he did not go too far.

The relative proportion of loans to taxes is after all a purely business proposition. Not to rely to a large extent on loans at the outset of a war is a mistake.

COUNTY NEWS IN BRIEF

Chronicle of Peninsula Events for Week

MORE MEN FOR CAMP.

Ten thousand more men than at first included will be sent to the army camp that is now being rushed to completion at Menlo Park. This announcement was made Saturday at the army headquarters in San Francisco. It is also expected that the lines of the camp will not be extended as contemplated during the past two or three days. This week a group of officers made a thorough inspection of the camp grounds, and reported that they thought the grounds were large enough to accommodate the additional men.

SEEK MILITARY BASE.

It was reported in San Mateo this week that the government is looking with favor on the East San Mateo section as a location for a military base. A local real estate dealer is authority for the statement that army officers have been looking over the tract, securing maps showing the harbor possibilities and gathering other data.

SOLDIERS FIGHT FIRE.

Soldiers from Camp Fremont at Menlo Park and prisoners from the San Mateo county jail joined in fighting a brush and forest fire which broke out late Sunday afternoon on the A. Schilling place near Woodside and burned all night before it was brought under control.

TRANSIT FIRE PROBE.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Peninsula Rapid Transit Company a thorough investigation of the cause of the fire at the company's plant last Saturday morning was instituted, without obtaining any enlightenment. The directors report that the theory that a cigarette swept from the last bus that came in ignited the oil in the "washer" pit is purely a conjecture, as the men who were on shift have not the slightest explanation to make. All they know is that one of the men discovered the fire, and that they had only time to flee for their lives. The oil and other combustible material was swept up by the flames, which penetrated almost every nook of the building within twenty minutes' time.

MASONIC AMBULANCE.

The reception in honor of the members of the Masonic Ambulance Corps of California in the San Mateo and Burlingame lodges was held Monday night at the Masonic Temple in San Mateo by members of the two lodges and the Eastern Star chapters of the respective cities. Archibald J. Treat of San Francisco was the orator of the evening. There were four soloists for the evening, besides Whir's orchestra. The soloists were Mrs. G. H. Lyon, Mrs. Fred Birlem, Mrs. M. A. Gale and Mrs. W. G. Lamond.

DEFINE INTOXICATION.

At Redwood City an ordinance was given its introductory reading defining drunkenness and making it an offense for any person to appear in that condition either in a public or private place. The ordinance defines as "drunk" any person who from the use of intoxicating liquor is "unable to walk without staggering or to talk coherently."

LAST DRAFT NUMBER.

Eddie Kerrigan, member of the San Mateo cigar firm of Brown & Kerrigan, was the holder of the last number drawn in the war lottery. His number was 3217. Kerrigan's call in the draft army seems to be a long distance away as a result. In the last numbers drawn and which were listed in the papers, San Mateo county has a fairly large representation.

BUY ICE PLANT.

Announcement was made that the Union Ice Company has purchased the Redwood City Ice Company from W. H. Lipp, who has been the owner of the business for many years. Lipp has acted as Redwood City agent for the Union Ice Company, and he will continue as manager of the branch.

TWINS LIVE; MOTHER DIES.

Mrs. H. C. Haskell, a sister of Cyrus H. Young, the Redwood City druggist, passed away in San Francisco on Sunday, following the birth of twins. The babies are reported as getting along splendidly. Mrs. Haskell's sudden death came as a great shock to members of her family.

ACTOR LAWRENCE FINED.

Del S. Lawrence, San Francisco actor, arrested July 16th for driving an automobile while intoxicated, was sentenced by Justice of the Peace Seely to pay a fine of $50 and his operator's license was suspended for thirty days. Lawrence was accompanied to court by his wife and two babies.

REDWOOD HOME GUARD.

Organization of Redwood City's home guard was completed at a meeting in the town hall, when permanent officers were elected. Charles G. Landschiet, who formerly was a member of the Queen's Guard in the English army, was chosen captain; W. S. Baker Jr., who has seen service in the crack Seventh Regiment, New York National Guard, was elected first lieutenant, and William J. Graef, formerly of the Coast Artillery, was selected second lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers will be chosen later.

MORAL ARMY CAMP.

San Mateo county will refuse to tolerate the exploitation of women in the vicinity of Camp Fremont at Menlo Park, according to a statement attributed to Supervisor William H. Brown by the San Francisco Examiner.

ANNOYED BURLINGAME.

Ralph E. Williams, escaped inmate from the asylum at Stockton, where he was committed for being an inebriate, was arrested by the Burlingame police Saturday for disturbing the peace of housewives in the Easton addition of the town. He is being held pending an investigation.

BOYS WALK FOURTEEN MILES.

Three boy scouts appeared the other day at the home of Mayor William H. Pearson of Burlingame and secured his signature to a note testifying that the lads had walked fourteen miles from the north end of the county to Burlingame. The boys called the mayor on the phone when starting on their hike, and walked into Mr. Pearson's home several hours later for his signature. One of the boys, "Buster" Tynan, is the son of Joseph Tynan, vice-president and general manager of the Union Iron Works, who is a lifelong friend of Mayor Pearson. The other two lads were friends of young Tynan. All reside in San Francisco.

The AMERICAN FLAG

By Joseph Rodman Drake

When Freedom from her mountain height
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there.
She mingled with its gorgeous dyes
The milky baldrick of the skies,
And striped its pure celestial white
With streakings of the morning light.
Then from his mansion in the sun
She called her eagle bearer down,
And gave into his mighty hand
The symbol of her chosen land.

Flag of the seas! on ocean wave
Thy stars shall glitter o'er the brave;
When death, careering on the gale,
Sweeps darkly round the belled sail,
And frightened waves rush wildly back
Before the broadside's reeling rack,
Each dying wanderer of the sea
Shall look at once to heaven and thee,
And smile to see thy splendors fly
In triumph o'er his closing eye.

Flag of the free heart's hope and home!
By angel hands to valor given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in heaven.
Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us,
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us?

Peace Will Bring Federation of Nations Now Fighting Autocracy

By Lord NORTHCLIFFE, Head of British Mission

IT is only by an absolute mobilization of man power and machine power that this war can be won. Industries that at this moment seem remote from mobilization for the war will sooner or later be called upon to do their part. For one thing the great bulk of automobile output will have to be concentrated on trucks. In the second place, the automobile factories will inevitably be commandeered for the manufacture of aeroplane parts and aeroplane construction generally. In the aeroplane lies one great hope of allied victory. The war has taught that the aeroplane engine of spring may be almost useless for actual fighting by the next autumn, so rapid are the developments produced by the fierce competition of war.

I HAVE A STRONG CONVICTION THAT WITH PEACE WILL COME A CLOSE FEDERATION OF THE NATIONS WHO ARE NOW FIGHTING THE GREAT FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

BROKERS PREPARE FOR LICENSE LAW

REALTY OPERATORS MUST PUT UP BONDS—NO SPLIT COMMISSIONS.

Applications for license under the new real estate license law will be in the hands of California real estate men some time next week. The blanks will be mailed from Sacramento by Commissioner F. H. Bloodgood, and will specify the type of bond which will be required under the law.

Brokers will put up a $1000 bond, but whether it will be a surety or personal guarantee will not be known until applications are forwarded.

It is believed that the real estate license law will materially promote the interests of the profession and safeguard land owners against unscrupulous dealers. Under the law, each firm must furnish a bond for $1000 as a guarantee for adhering to honorable business and a license fee of $10 per annum. Salesmen employed by these firms will not be compelled to give bonds, but will be charged a license of $2 a year. It is felt that this plan will restrict the business and work for the good of the entire community.

Secretary Leslie E. Burks of the Real Estate Board spent the first of this week in Sacramento, where he debated the operation of the new law with Commissioner Bloodgood. Burks said yesterday:

"The real estate license bill should raise the standard of the real estate business in California and greatly increase public confidence in real estate men. It will eliminate dishonest brokers, who not only work against the good of the business, but also against the best interests of the community."

"Real estate men should be regarded in the same light as the banker and attorney—as an adviser and counselor in matters pertaining to real property. It is his business to know how to shape property to the best advantage for the owner and build up the income."

"The new bill when properly operating will unquestionably bring about a better understanding between the owner and broker and work for the good of real property owners."

I will have time for a few more pupils in music; will make special prices during vacation. Call or address Ida M. Culler, San Bruno. Advt.
